Biographical Information

Su-Jin Cho

Su-Jin Cho is a devoted piano and voice teacher with over 20 years of experience. She is a private music instructor at The Village School since 2014 and current staff singer/soloist at St. Paul's United Methodist Church. An eminent pianist and coloratura soprano who has won 2 competitions during her senior year, she earned her degree studying under Dr. Jason Lester, former director of vocal studies for HGO's Bauer Family Vocal Studio and former president of GHNATS. She has equally continued to study piano performance and has worked with Dr. Melissa Marse, who earned degrees at Yale, The Juilliard School, and New England Conservatory; and Dr. Daniel Kramlich during her university career.

Ms. Cho is able to adapt and teach students of any age and skill level, providing the structure of a classroom coupled with her high level musical skills. Over the past 10 years, she has worked with students preparing for auditions, helping them achieve their performance goals. Students under Ms. Cho have gone on to be accepted into music programs at Baylor University, Eastman University, Abilene Christian University, and The University of Oklahoma. Younger students have been accepted into HSPVA, Honor Choirs in their districts, with freshman high school students achieving All-State choir at the district level. While she has trained former TUTS members, 2 adult students have gone on to compete in talent shows The Voice and America's Got Talent, with one finishing in the top 2 during the Houston auditions. Ms. Cho is conjointly a highly requested and skilled piano accompanist for both voice and instrumental musicians.

During her tenure as Music Director at Rockin' Robin Music Lessons, she has expanded her business acumen and leadership. With her promotion, the studio experienced an 84% growth and went on to open two new locations. Ms. Cho's development included designing a new website, creating promotional videos, producing improved recital programs, performing successful community outreach, and seeking talented, recognized talent for instructor positions.

Alexander Johnson

Hello! My name is Alexander Johnson. I am a 25-year-old grad student from Huntsville, Texas. I have a bachelor's degree in music education from Sam Houston State University. I am looking forward to working with you and your students!

I teach violin, beginner to intermediate viola, and beginner to intermediate piano. I have been teaching since 11th grade. I conducted the Huntsville Youth Orchestra, the same orchestra where I learned to play violin many years before. I had assisted with helping the students for two years before this. I was in the Sam Houston Symphony Orchestra, and I was also in the Temple College Orchestra while attending the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor. I am currently teaching orchestra and giving private lessons at the Village School in Houston, Texas, as well as serving as the Music Minister for First Baptist Church in Lovelady, Texas.

Brandon Scott

Hello, my name is Brandon Scott. I will be offering private voice, piano, and guitar lessons. I have my degree in Vocal Performance and I've been teaching for 13 years now. I make it my personal goal to not only teach children music, but to aid them mentally, morally, and socially in a safe, encouraging, fun environment! I look forward to working with your family in the near future!
